good global citizens
through languages,
communication and cultures

Learning at Jabberü

At Jabberü we teach languages to children ages 1-10 using proven methods – and tons of fun. Our classes are immersion, meaning they are surrounded by the language from the minute they enter the room; experts agree this is the best way for kids to learn a foreign language. The children are taught by native speakers in a dynamic environment, just as they learned their first language. This interaction is a critical part of the learning process and can't be experienced through CDs and DVDs.

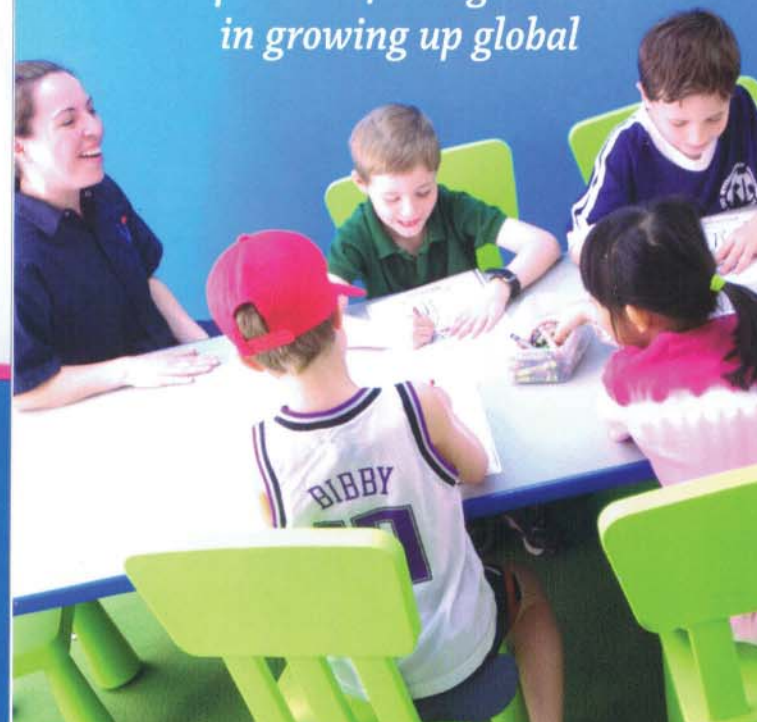

Each class includes fun and interactive activities that naturally incorporate the language being learned – there are games, art projects, role play and music, all encouraging the children to communicate – that is after all why we're here, because we value communicating with others.

The Jabberü curriculum is based on the standards of the American Council on the Teaching of Foreign Languages, ensuring a focus on meaningful communication and integration of the target culture, its celebrations, art and everyday life.

More than ever before, today's generation of kids live in a truly global society. Learning another language opens the doors to understanding and appreciating other cultures – making friends and creating opportunities along the way.

We all want the best for our children – for them to have every opportunity available to them now and as they grow. Learning a second language is one of the most valuable gifts a child can receive – and one gift they will enjoy their whole lives.

Why Learn Young?

- Languages come easily to children. Their brains are still open to new sounds, sentence structures and speech patterns, which will greatly diminish with age.
- They can learn to speak with no accent, as a native speaker does.
- Children can learn a second language naturally, without translation from their first language.
- Learning a second language early, makes learning a third or even a fourth, much easier.

The JabberCrü

Our instructors are a very important part of the Jabberü experience. Each member of the JabberCrü is a native speaker and is selected for their experience teaching children a second language as well as for their energy and enthusiasm. They are always finding new and exciting ways to share with their students the language and culture that they love.

The JabberLab

We could teach classes anywhere...but we don't. Kids know that the JabberLab is special from the moment they walk in. Bright colors accent light-filled rooms – rounding out the whole Jabberü experience. This is a place that your child will want to come back to week after week.
